

IN THE CASE OF KELLOGG.

MAJORITY REPORT OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS.

Believing that his so-called election was secured by Fraud, Bribery, Conspiracy, and Military Force—The Use of the Bayonet to Secure a Legislature—Kellogg's Defense.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—In the Senate today Mr. Hill (Denn., Ga.) from the Committee on Privileges and Elections, reported a resolution denouncing that, according to the evidence now known to the Senate, William H. Kellogg was chosen by the Legislature of Louisiana in the Senate for the term beginning in March, 1857, and that he did not belong to a seat in the same; and that Hon. Mr. St. Vincens was chosen by the Legislature of Louisiana to a seat in the Senate for the term beginning March 1, 1857, and that he did not belong to the same on taking the oath prescribed by law. He also submitted a report in support of the resolution, which he said he had printed.

Mr. Hearst (Rep., Mass.) said that he was instructed by the majority of the committee to submit his views, and as they were short, he asked leave to read them. Mr. Hill said he had no objection, provided he was allowed to read the majority report. Thereupon Mr. Hearst read his report. It says:

"It is evident that more opportunity of numbers for the trial before a Senator from the South who has been elected would be given to the defense than to the defense of a Senator from Georgia. The Senate has been informed of the facts in the case, and has made up its mind to act upon them. The Senate will now proceed to consider the matter, and will have some evidence to offer in support of its action."

The motion to print the evidence and reports was then agreed to without a division.

OVERHEARD IN A PARLOR CAR.

The New Witness for Bank President Willard Under Cross-Examination.

Charles Parsons, the witness from Rondoult, who in the examination of the charge of sending obscene letters through the mails, made by Anthony Comstock against Edward F. Williams, President of the Greenpoint Savings Bank, testified that in August last he overheard two men in a parlor car from Manhattan Board to Greenpoint talking about "putting up a job on Ed. Williams which would make a bust-up in Greenpoint society"; yesterday appeared before United States Commissioner Allen for cross-examination. Parsons is about 28 years old, and is usually employed at odd jobs in the winter time, and at some summer resort in the session. Last year he was lamp cleaner for the Manhattan Beach Railroad Company, and before that he was a barkeeper at Iona Island. He answered all questions readily, and claims to the reporter that he told before United States District Attorney Tenney about his plan to make a bust-up in Greenpoint, and, in fact, such conspiracy, as he understood it, was carried out. Parsons, however, denied that he might have referred to the trial and that might have been the reason why he was called as a witness. Parsons, a member of the Sons of Liberty, a military organization, and supported him in his efforts to get the trial delayed.

Third-District Kellogg did concurred with Parsons' testimony, and, in fact, such conspiracy, as he understood it, was carried out.

The Democratic party, as appears in the trials of the Senate and House of Representatives, is a party of disunity, and, in fact, such conspiracy, as he understood it, was carried out.

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

Parsons, however, denied that he might have referred to the trial and that might have been the reason why he was called as a witness.

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."

On the other hand, this is Mr. Sidney Page's account of the transaction:

"I would willingly do my best to get the money to my God, but I am not able to do it. I have no money, and the only way I can get it is to go to the bank and have it taken out of my account."